

Management

► Stephen Bart, P.Eng. - President and CEO

Stephen has over 30 years experience in the successful development and operation of energy infrastructure businesses. He brings unique commercial, technical, and operational bandwidth to Invigor having worked both domestically and internationally, in regulated and un-regulated regimes, and having done so effectively from within a variety of corporate structures (from private equity start-ups, to large private/family owned companies, to large publicly traded entities). He has a proven track record of starting and leading businesses delivering exceptional results through periods of rapid growth. Most recently, he lead a crude oil pipeline and terminal business posting 11 consecutive record quarters (CAGR > 20%), beating internal and analyst expectations, and did so against a backdrop of the worst downturn in the history of the oil history. He also grew a privately-held regional renewable energy company into a global publicly-listed company managing a portfolio of renewable technologies including bio-energy. He has a B.Eng.Sc from the University of Western Ontario and is member in good standing with APEGGA, APEGS, and APEO. He is the former Chair of the Canadian Standards Association's Steering Committee

► Lorne Petersen, B.Sc. - EVP, Corporate Development

Lorne's 20 years of agricultural business management coupled with his oil and gas experience in the upstream and midstream sectors complements the skills needed in the biodiesel industry. Profitably running a land and cattle enterprise full-time for 13 years, Lorne moved on to the upstream oil sector where he worked as an Environmental Consultant doing upstream oil and gas reclamation, remediation and emissions work. From there, he founded a small team acquiring natural gas production and undertaking a drilling program while working at a junior oil and gas services company. From his time as an owner and consultant of oil and gas projects, he could see the future was in renewable, low GHG energy production which led him to Invigor. He has a B.Sc. from the University of Alberta and has sat on the Boards of several organizations

► Dan Kerridge - VP Finance

Dan's past capital markets experience includes an analyst position at a boutique investment bank and as an associate in equity research for BMO Capital Markets. He has participated in several financings and advisories for domestic and international Canadian-based junior oil and gas firms totaling over $500 million in aggregate value. Along with his capital markets experience, his most recent experience involved working closely with senior management at a junior E&P services company. He holds a B.Comm. from the University of Alberta

► Jordan Simek - Plant Manager

Jordan is a highly skilled and dedicated Journeyman Instrument Technician working in this field for 6+ years on projects ranging from maintenance to new construction. As an electrical/instrumentation foreman on construction projects, he successfully headed the full plant commissioning and operation of Invigor's Lethbridge facility
